BRAMBLETON.

Mesdames Ashburn, Reynolds and Webster, who went from this ward to attend the Woman's Missionary Conference, at Charlottesville, Va., have returned home, having witnessed a great meeting and much work done.

The ladies of McKendree will meet at 3:30 p. m. to-day to organize a sewing school. Let all attend.

Highland avenue is one of the longest thoroughfares in the ward, is quite well inhabited its, whole extent and is traversed a great deal. It is an improved street and in most things compares favorably with all other streets in Fifth Ward. But the neglect of the sidewalks is an evil of too long standing. Those high-pitched lots with their weatherbeaten fronts don't look well, never can in their present bare condition. And when the weather is stormy it is as wet as the seabeach and slip and slide is all the go along the sidewalk. Now it is reasonable to suppose it would increase the value of the property to have these sidewalks paved, it would improve appearances a great sight and, best of all, it would be all the more convenient and comfortable for foot passage. Why then don't all parties interested go to work to have the sidewalks paved the whole extent of Highland avenue?

Miss Haygood, sister of Bishop Haygood, a returned missionary from China, will seeak at Queen-Street Church Friday afternoon at 6:30 e/clock, and at Granby-Street Friday night at 8 o'clock.

China, will speak at Queen-Street Church Friday afternoon at 6:30 o'clock, and at Granby-Street Friday night at 8 o'clock.

It gives pain to report the death by diphtheria of Katie Potter, aged 12 years and 6 months, and daughter of Mr. R. E. and Mrs. Wortley Potter, which occurred Wednesday afternoon at their residence, No. 117 North Park avenue. She had been sick only a few days and had trachestomy preformed by Drs. Davidson, Grimes and Merdith, She, however, could not survive the serious inroads already made by this dreadful disease. After religious services, conducted privately by Rev. E. B. McClur, her remains were taken for interment to Suffolk, the former home of the family, via Norfolk and Carolina railroad, at 2 p. m. yesterday. The following young ladles were on the programme for the Dairy Maids Drill at Brambleton Hall last night: Misses May Weaver, Ollie Saunders, Katie Welland, Vivian Chapman, Willie Saunderlin, Blanche Taylor, Rena Butler, Nina Butler, Katle White, Clara Lambert, Lucy Hudgins, Eva Reid, Blanche Fantone, Annie Flanagan, Lottle Parsons, and Laura Barclay. Reading by Professor Thorne, vocal soilo by Miss Sophia Pritchard, instrumental soilo by Mr. Julius Yarbrough. An appreclative audience witnessed the rendition of the programme, which was well received and loudly applauded. Mr. J. T. Trueblood and bride have returned from Elizabeth City, N. C. whither they took a trip Wednesday to be married. Rev. C. S. Blackwell, of that place performed the ceremony, Mr. Trueblood is an enterprising and successful young merchant of this ward, doing business at the corner of Highland and Marshall avenues. He and his bonney bride nee Miss Lillie V. Petry, will reside at 204 Highland avenue.

The Fourth Quarterly Conference for McKendree Station was held last night by Rev. J. P. Garland, D. D., Presiding Elder. Good reports were made, and the official board reorganized for the ensuing conference year, with but little change.

not complete their work, which will be resumed at an adjourned meeting next Tuesday.

CALLS ENTENDED.—Rev. W. J.
Laine, who has been supplying the pulpit of the Christian Church here during Dr. W. W. Staley's foreign trip, has been called to the pastorate of Oakland, near Chuckatuck, Zion, in Barrett's Neck, and Isle of Wight Court-house Christian Church.

REMEMBERED HIS GUIDE.—Bill Copeland, colored, the Dismal Swamp guide, who accompanied Dr. A. K. Fisher, of Washington, D. C., a Government entomologist, during his explorations a few weeks ago, has received from the doctor a number of photographs illustrative of many of the picturesque scenes around Lake Drummond. One of them shows a large black bear, attached to a pole that is suspended between two men.

YOUNG GIRL'S FUNERAL.—The remains of Ruth Patter, 12 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Patter, who died yesterday in Norloik, were brought to Suffolk to-day on the Norloik and Carolina road at 5:95 p. m., and interred in Cedar Hill Cemetery. Rev. J. F. Love accompanied the funeral procession to the grove. The family of the deceased formerly resided in Suffolk.

AROUND THE WHARF.—Schooner Emily of the deceased formerly resided in Suffolk.

Marylanders to blush for their State scaled their fate in this campaign by the gold their excesses and their audicious defiance of the popular will.

Every good Democrat as well as every good citizen can rejoice heartily in the result. It is a victory for Democracy, in not for Republicanism, one of the greatest victories, in fact, that Democracy is history. Democracy is the rule of the people and by this triumph the people have asserted their authority and resummed their sway. Greater is he who conquereth himself than he who taketh a city, and the Democratic masses of Maryland have shown that they are patricts of the highest type with whom the public welfare is superior to partisan considerations, and who, when the organization of the good of their State.

Within the past few days the drought in the region of Hazktou, Pa., has developed a peculiar phase and which is causing even more apprehension in the mining towns than the neighborly spats which were indulged in when it came to dividing the limited supply of water to be obtained from the mine boilors.

So great has the demand for water become, in the mountains especially, that even wild animals are leaving their haunts and invading the lowlands. This is the condition of affairs at Honey Brook, and the other day that village was thrown into a state of wildest excitement by the appearance of three bears.

forest hems in the village. While the rumors created some approhension, as long as the villagers were unmolested they paid no particular attention to what the denizens of the forest did in the meantime.

One day recently Mike Movahan, while traveling near No. 8 slope, near the base of Spring mountain, was startled by the appearance of two full grown bears in his path. Movahan was on his way home from the mines, and being unarmed lost no time in making his escape. He reported his experience in the village, and for the first time people began to fear for their safety.

The continued dry weather has made it necessary for the people to carry water two and three miles, and to pass through the timber land. It began to dawn upon the villagers that the mountain animals had a cause for coming so close to the habitations. The climax came, however, when a party of water carriers were attacked by a huge black bear. The party consisted of William Gallagher and Jane and Annette Fox. The two latter were on their way from the artesian wells back of the reservoir when they saw bruin coming from the voir when they saw bruin coming from the thicket.

Near by was a party of Italian women, who were pleking leaves, and they too fled in terror. In their race for the village the women declare that they came up with a number of large animals. They reached their homes in an exhausted condition.

road Development.

One of the country's leading authorities on railreads declares that from work now in sight there is a prospect of 2,500 miles of new track during the year. This indicates revival. During the first six months of the year railroad building was almost at a standstill. Reliable estimates put the total length of new track laid from January to June 30 at 641.2 miles. Of this over 15 per cent was in the single state of Texas. In 28 of the 49 states and territories no new track was laid.

This must not be accepted as indicating Texas. In 23 of the 49 states and territories no now track was laid.

This must not be accepted as indicating that we have approached our maximum development of steam roads. It means merely that we have our longest lines laid and that there is a temporary lull in the work of construction.

In 1871 the country had 44,614 miles of track. In 1880 is had 84,225 miles. In 1890 it had 157,696 miles. In 1895, according to Mr. Depew's estimates, it has 180,000 miles—official for 1894, 178,709.

Against the average of 7,376 miles of now track a year laid between 1880 and 1890, this gives for the last five years an average annual growth of 4,400 miles. When it is remembered that this average is as high as that for the period between 1871 and 1880, which were then considered years of wonderful growth, it will not need to be argued that we are far from the prospect of a standstill in railway construction. With the development of the southwest and the renewed prosperty of the south, the activity in railroad building during the next five years is likely to exceed the annual average between 1870 and 1880.—New York World.
